

Abstract:

Described is an individualized security document (10) such as a passport, savings book or bankbook or the like which has a number of pages which are joined together by means of a fixing (16) or adhesive. Incorporated into the security document (10) by means of the fixing (16) or adhesive is a transfer film (18) which is provided with security elements and which has a base film (20) and a decorative layer arrangement (22) having the security elements. The decorative layer arrangement (22) can be transferred onto the associated page (14) of the security document (10). At the same time the base film (20) is detached from the decorative layer arrangement (22) and can be cut out of the security document (10).

(Figure 1)